CARRIERS ENJOY TWO GREAT DAYS IN METROPOLIS

42 Telegraph Carrier-Salesmen Talk of Many Sights

Though 42 Dixon Evening Telegraph carrier-salesmen were back home today, ready to slip back into routine duties which will include bringing your paper to your doorstep tonight, memories of two big days spent in Chicago as guests of the Telegraph will linger for many days to come. For after all, one's first visit to a zoo, to say nothing of witnessing one's first big league ball game, or a jaunt aboard a wave-tossed yacht that results in one's first taste of sea-sickness are experiences not easily forgotten.

The trip, planned as a reward for outstanding accomplishments in a recent subscription contest among the carriers, began Wednesday when the seven-car caravan left The Telegraph building at 7:30 A. M. From then on, thrills came thick and fast for the young sightseers, most of whom were making their first visit to the city. All of Wednesday morning was devoted to the trip en route, and a trip through the Brookfield zoo, where the group remained for luncheon. Antics of the baby panda, "Mei-Mei", held the attention of the visitors perhaps longer than any other one attraction at this particular point of the tour.

Next, the excited young salesmen paid a visit to the Municipal airport, where their attention was divided between watching the big planes shuttling back and forth and photographers snapping pictures of Sally Rand, who was just arriving from the coast. Claire Dodd, movie actress, was also glimpsed at the airport.

At dinner, the party gathered around specially reserved tables in the air-conditioned basement dining room at Walgreen's restaurant. A special tour of the Chicago Tribune plant and admission to a 45-minute broadcast from the WGN studios were arranged through the courtesy of John Parks, production manager of the Tribune, for later in the evening. While at the Tribune plant, the group enjoyed a half-hour talking picture, "From Trees to Tribunes", followed by a conducted tour through the public service and business departments, news rooms, engraving plant, photograph studios, stereotyping department, foundry, press room, mailing room, and other points of interest in the building.

At WGN, they listened to a "Harold Stoke's Melodies from the Sky" program, broadcast over the Mutual Broadcasting system, before returning to the Atlantic hotel, where excellent accommodations had been arranged by Manager Frederick C. Teich. The group also enjoyed breakfast and luncheon on Thursday in the Atlantic's beautiful Coffee Shop.

Visits to the Field museum and Shedd aquarium were planned for yesterday morning. Then came the highlight of the entire trip, with Charles R. Walgreen, Sr., whose continuous acts of kindness have made him beloved by all who know him, inviting the party aboard his huge 136-foot yacht, "The Dixonia," for a three-hour cruise on Lake Michigan.

"The Dixonia," considered one of the most beautiful yachts at the club, is equipped with twin 250-horse power Winston Diesel motors, and can easily accommodate 70 or more passengers on a day cruise. But of more immediate interest to the "Dixonia's" passengers yesterday was a convenient supply of lemons, a thoughtful provision for inexperienced sailors.

Charles R. Walgreen, Jr., accompanied the group as host and two of Mr. Walgreen's photographers were present to "snap" a number of "candid shots," some of which will appear later in The Telegraph.

Returning to the dock in tenders, the party left for the south side to help cheer the White Sox to a 13 to 1 victory over the Detroit Tigers. Harry Grabner made special arrangements for the group at Comiskey park.

After the ball game, the weary happy crowd started homeward, stopping for dinner en route, and arriving here about 9 o'clock—deeply appreciative to the hundreds of persons who became new subscribers to The Telegraph during the course of the contest, and consequently making it possible for them to have two days of supreme happiness.

Carriers making the trip were: Dixon — Ward Duvall, James

Policemen Seek Work for Man They Prevented Leaping from 31st Floor

Houston, Texas, Aug. 12.—(AP)—The world today seemed to be a pretty good place to James Wells, 23, who threatened yesterday to jump from a ledge on the 31st floor of a downtown building.

Filled with hope after visiting his wife and three-day-old son at a hospital, Wells said: "The world seems a whole lot better down here than it did up there."

While thousands watched breathlessly from the street Wells argued for a half-hour with two policemen.

"Show me what there is to live for and I'll come in," he told Police Lieut. Lawrence Morrison, who engaged him in conversation until Patrolman O. C. Friday could grab him.

Later Wells said: "I just couldn't find anything worth living for. * * * I felt I was at the end of my rope."

But today Wells was cheerful. Morrison and Friday went job hunting for him.

JAP WARPLANES ATTACK CHINESE HEADQUARTERS

Japanese Estimate 500 Killed During Raid on Hankow

Shanghai, Aug. 12.—(AP)—A Japanese naval communiqué tonight announced more than 100 Japanese warplanes had carried out a spectacularly successful air raid on the Hankow headquarters of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek.

The communiqué declared the raid was "100 per cent effective" in attack military establishments and railways at Hankow and Wuchang as well as the generalissimo's headquarters.

Japanese estimated 500 casualties resulted.

No Chinese planes took to the air in defense of China's provisional capital and its nearby sister-city.

Heavy damage was said by the Japanese to have been inflicted on the Hankow and Wuchang railway stations, a clothing bureau and the headquarters of the Chinese army's second and fourth divisions.

The communiqué declared a direct hit in a railway yard exploded piles of munitions, sending flames spurring toward the sky.

Chinese reports said anti-aircraft fire broke up the attackers, but Japanese claimed all their planes returned safely from the raid.

ATTACKS MORE DARING

Hankow, China, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Japanese air attacks, called more daring and destructive than any before in this teeming industrial tri-city section, today set afire oil tanks believed belonging to Standard Oil Company of New York, Texaco, or Shell Oil companies.

The properties are on the outskirts of Hankow, provisional Chinese capital and with Yangtze and Wuchang across the Yangtze river, is one of the so-called Wuhan cities. In the fury of the attacks ownership of the tanks could not be established immediately.

(The Central News Agency said 50 Japanese bombers at noon dropped 200 missiles on Wuchang and 100 on Hankow and that a heavy casualty toll was feared.)

No Details Given

(The Chinese agency reported Texaco gasoline depots at Hankow were bombed, but gave no details in dispatches reaching Hongkong.)

Populous districts of Wuchang and the Canton-Hankow railroad terminal were hit.

Japanese warplanes also penetrated Kwanshi province, in southern China, and heavily-bombed Wuchow, river port 120 miles west of Canton.

The raiders, continuing the fulfillment of Tuesday's threat of 10 consecutive days of attacks, concentrated on buildings of Wuchow university and military headquarters after two bombardments of North Canton and the Canton railway.

Traffic Re-routed To Avoid Congestion

The state highway department this morning re-routed traffic passing over U. S. 330 in Dixon's business district. Because of the congestion caused by the rebuilding of the Galena avenue bridge, traffic was routed south from the Peoria avenue bridge, to Second street, then east to Galena avenue. The intersection of Second street and Hennepin avenue has been made a stop street for traffic moving north and south on Hennepin avenue, and motorists are requested to observe the new traffic regulation.

The state engineers after conferring with Commissioner Cal G. Tyler this afternoon, ordered that all cars park parallel to the curbway on Second street between Hennepin and Galena avenues. The rule will be in effect during the construction of the new Galena avenue bridge.

GUNMEN HANGED TODAY FOR THE DEATH OF G-MAN

Leavenworth, Kas., Aug. 12.—(AP)—Robert Suhay and Glenn Applegate, New York gunmen convicted of murdering W. W. Baker, Federal Bureau of Investigation agent, were hanged at the federal penitentiary early today in the first double execution in Kansas in more than 70 years.

Applegate went to his death with the same indifference that had characterized his stay in prison. Suhay gritted his teeth and was making an obvious effort to control himself as he mounted the 13 steps of the gallows.

Among the 27 witnesses were H. H. Baker, Yuma, Ariz., attorney, father of the slain FBI agent, and B. B. Baker, his 18-year-old son.

Guards entering the cell block found Applegate asleep.

After the ropes were adjusted, Applegate turned to Suhay and said:

"Let's shake and go together," Suhay made no response.

Both the 45-year-old Applegate and Suhay, 26, refused to receive spiritual advisers.

Baker was slain April 16, 1937, when Suhay and Applegate shot their way out of a trap set in the Topeka postoffice by Federal agents who sought them in connection with the robbery of a Katoan, N. Y., bank. Suhay was shot in the wrist.

They were arrested that night by Sheriff Homer Sylvester of Plattsmouth, Neb., and his brother, Cass, without firing a shot after Suhay and Applegate had made a wild, desperate ride and kidnapped a doctor to treat Suhay's wound.

Sewer Repaired at Foot of Ottawa Ave.

The sewer on the south side of Rock River at the foot of Ottawa avenue which has been emptying in the stream has been repaired to eliminate the offense. A man hole has been constructed on East River street and Ottawa avenue, which eliminates the sewage flowing into the river. The connection with the sewage disposal system which services a small number of intercepting sewers from East River to First street, has in the past been closed by dirt and refuse flowing into the main during storms and the construction of the man hole will provide for the removal of any debris which prevents the operation of the system.

Unwelcome

Scranton, Pa., Aug. 12.—(AP)—Pennsylvania Legionnaires have withdrawn an invitation to Mayor Fiorella H. La Guardia of New York City to attend their state convention August 18 because, an announcement said, they are "opposed to fraternizing with radicals."

The bid was given to La Guardia last night as he stopped in Scranton for dinner, but was recalled a few hours later.

A Legion spokesman said he learned Jeremiah F. Cross, New York state commander, had denied the mayor a place on the platform at the New York convention at Endicott because, he said, La Guardia refused to dismiss a New York City employee said to be a Communist.

"The Legionnaires of Scranton," a statement issued from headquarters here said, "agree wholeheartedly with the New York department's action as they are equally opposed to fraternizing with radicals."

SEEKING FORMER POLICEMAN FOR WOMAN'S DEATH

Children Tell Police Their Father Shot Housekeeper

Chicago, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Peter Hughes, 47-year-old former policeman, was sought by police today for questioning in connection with the slaying last night of Miss Mary Blake, his housekeeper.

Detective Herbert Preston said Hughes' two children, Margaret, 17, and John, 15, told him their father shot the 67-year-old housekeeper because of her "nagging" about a late appearance at the dinner table.

Margaret told police she was five minutes late for dinner and Miss Blake scolded her. She said her father went into a bedroom and seized his service revolver, firing shots at her and her brother. The girl said they ran from the house as Hughes fired a third shot and when they returned their father was gone and Miss Blake lay dying.

Hughes was discharged from the police department on April 12, 1937, after a civil service trial for intoxication.

Miss Blake had been housekeeper for Hughes since the death of his wife 14 years ago.

Quarrelled Frequently

Dr. Adolph J. Newman (527 S. Seventh) Springfield, Ill., testified at an inquest that Miss Blake and Hughes had quarrelled frequently, and that two years ago the former policeman had threatened her life.

Dr. Newman, whose wife was a cousin of the victim, continued:

"She quit her job then and went to Springfield to live with us. She returned to keep house for him only because she couldn't bear being separated from the children."

Mrs. Annette Newman said, after the inquest was continued to Aug. 31, that she and her husband planned to move to Chicago this fall and that Miss Blake intended to live with them.

Forecaster Says Extreme Heat Is Not in Prospect

Chicago, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Rising temperatures in the northwest will bring warmer weather to Illinois tomorrow, but no extreme heat is in sight, Forecaster H. A. Downs said today.

Downs said temperatures in the low nineties were in prospect tomorrow and Sunday for downstate, with a high of about 88 degrees for Chicago, Springfield, Cairo and St. Louis reported tops of 88 yesterday. A cooling lake breeze kept the thermometer down to 77 in Chicago.

President Returns

Washington, Aug. 12.—(AP)—President Roosevelt arrived in Washington at 9:29 A. M. C. S. T. today after a five-week political-pleasure tour, after telling Georgia citizens in emphatic terms how he would like for them to vote in the democratic senatorial primary.

Roosevelt, in an address so vigorous it surprised many of his listeners, said if he could vote in Georgia he certainly would support Lawrence S. Camp, U. S. District Attorney in Atlanta. Speaking at Barnesville, Ga., yesterday, he named Senator Walter F. George and former Governor Eugene Talmadge as two candidates he clearly indicated were unacceptable to his administration. He did not mention a fourth candidate in the Democratic senatorial primary—W. G. McRae, Atlanta attorney.

In his talk the president said George could not measure up to standards of liberalism and that Talmadge's election would "contribute little to practical government."

Shakes F. D. R.'s Hand

George, who sat on the speakers' platform with Camp, Governor E. D. Rivers and Senator Richard B. Russell, Jr., looked intently at the crowd throughout the chief executive's talk. When it was over, he arose, shook hands with Roosevelt and told him:

"Mr. President, I regret that you have taken this occasion to question my democracy and to attack my public record. I want you to know that I accept the challenge." George has served in the senate 16 years.

Roosevelt described George as "my old friend"—but added that he also included among his close friends several Republicans in congress whose views were poles apart from his own.

The president's talk, made after he had received an honorary degree from the University of Georgia at Athens earlier in the day, had all the trappings of a big southern political rally.

The crowd was one of the most demonstrative the president had on his entire journey. Early in the talk, there were cries "Hurrah for George," intermixed with cheers when the president criticized the

Third Term

Mackinac Island, Mich., Aug. 12.—(AP)—Postmaster General James A. Farley, Democratic national chairman, contends the party should leave the 1940 presidential field open until President Roosevelt signifies whether he will seek a third term.

Farley, guest of honor at a testimonial dinner given by Michigan Democrats, told newsmen last night that "anybody who indicates his candidacy for the presidency before Roosevelt makes up his mind whether to run ought to have his head examined."

He added that Roosevelt is "just as popular as he ever was."

The national chairman appealed in his address at the banquet for the retention of a New Deal Congress.

CHICAGO NEGRO SENTENCED TO DEATH IN CHAIR

Chicago, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Robert Nixon, 19-year-old Negro was sentenced today to die by electrocution October 21 for the brick-murder of Mrs. Florence Johnson, 34-year-old mother of two small children.

Criminal Court Judge John C. Lewo set the date after overruling Nixon's motion for a new trial. He was convicted August 4 of murdering Mrs. Johnson, wife of a city fireman, in her south side apartment on May 27.

Prosecutors have announced Nixon also must stand trial, despite the conviction, for the brick slaying of Mrs. Florence Thompson Castle in her hotel room June 29, 1936. Nixon has also been accused of killing Anna Kuchta, student nurse, in Chicago last year, and Mrs. Edna Worden and her daughter, Marguerite, 12, in Los Angeles more than a year ago.

The state charged Nixon and Earl Hicks, 19, Negro, went to the Johnson home intent on burglary, and that Nixon beat Mrs. Johnson with a brick when she awoke and found them ransacking her room.

challenge" after the chief executive reaffirmed yesterday at Barnesville, Ga., that "I most assuredly cast my ballot for Lawrence Camp," New Dealer.

"God bless you, Walter," the president replied. "Let's always be friends."

Senator George stood on an Atlanta hotel balcony last night and told a crowd which assembled to greet him "the events of today have cleared the last remaining doubt as to the verdict of the people of Georgia September 14."

"I am confident," he said, "that the Georgia people are ready to fight this thing through to a finish and prove that we in Georgia are capable and determined to run our own affairs."

THE CLOUDED MOON

By MAX SALTSMARSH

The Characters
Hugo Stern, handsome author, living on the French Riviera.
Archie Lumsden, myself, Hugo's friend.
Rene Geiss, a singularly unpleasant cartoonist.

Yesterday, Summoned to Palm Beach by O'Donnell, an American detective, Hugo and I see Eve Monet murdered while she is taking part in a mannequin show.

Chapter Five
Death of a Red-Haired Man
The Chief of Police pulled out a notebook, and scribbled while Hugo was speaking. Hugo told him that the blonde girl had approached us at the Carlton Bar, also that Geiss had spoken to us about her and mentioned the names of her friends.
"Venner, the banker?" Thiers pondered. "Now, where have I heard that name before? No matter. It will come to me. Baron Stahl I know, of course—the great financier. I fancy that he is staying now at Cap d'Antibes. Vladimir Rakovsky—no, that one is unknown to me. But one or other of them can doubtless tell us something about the girl."

He paused again, surveying us. "There is nothing else?"
Hugo shook his head, but I sat up in my chair. "There's one point," I said. "You say the girl was murdered, which I presume means shot, and in that case the pistol must have been fitted with a silencer, otherwise everyone would have heard the explosion. I know the noise a silencer makes, and just before the thing happened I heard such a sound, that might very well have been the shot, behind my back."

"And that is all, Monsieur?"
"No," I said bluntly. "It isn't. As my friend has told you, I called for a doctor, and while I was doing so I saw two men leave the room hurriedly, one after the other. In fact, I added thoughtfully, 'It looked to me as if one was pursuing the other.'"

"That is most interesting," said the fat man, but with a certain lack of enthusiasm. "These men—how were they dressed?"
"I shrugged. 'In black trousers and white mess-jackets. They might have been waiters or guests, for all I could tell.'"

"But their faces?" he insisted. "You could identify them again?"
"No," I said. "I couldn't. They had their backs to me, and beyond the fact that one was medium-sized and black-haired, and the other shorter and ginger-colored, I saw nothing to spot them by. I paused, racking my brains for some detail that might have escaped me, and a sudden memory came. 'Hold on a minute,' said I. 'I did notice a ginger-haired fellow, before the thing happened, standing behind the tables across the dance-floor, signaling to someone on our side of the room.'"

He pursed his lips, frowning thoughtfully. "And you think it might have been the same man? Well, we can discover if anyone left the building before orders were given to shut the doors. But meantime we will have Madame in."

He opened the outer door and gave a sharp order, and next moment a tall, handsome, middle-aged woman, a trifle mannish-looking in her tailored black satin suit, entered the room. She was pale and her mouth was grimly set, but otherwise she showed no sign of emotion.
Thiers bowed. "You are Madame Lilli Stefan?" he inquired. The woman inclined her head silently. "And this poor girl who has met so tragic an end—she was one of your assistants?"

A Holocaust?
"She was one of my assistants, for this affair only," she said in a deep, rich contralto. "It will be best, I think, if I explain exactly how it happened. The girl Eve was not one of my regular mannequins. She was suggested to me last spring by Baron Stahl. I had, unfortunately, no opening at the time, but I took her address with the promise to employ her when the occasion offered. Two days ago, when I was on the point of leaving for Cannes, one of my girls fell ill and I telephoned to this girl's apartment, 3 bis, rue President Doumergue, near the Parc Monceau, and finding that she was free, engaged her. Beyond that—I know nothing!"

"The Parc Monceau?" said the chief of police, pondering finger on lip. "An expensive address, that! And her real name, madame?"

Mme. Stefan shrugged. "I know no more than you," she retorted.

George F. Bishop, veteran fruit and produce dealer, passed away suddenly Saturday evening at hospital at Mt. Vernon, Ill.

The Lee county jail population approached a new record with 22 prisoners being accommodated, two of the number being women.

A total of 108 passengers on the "Back Home" special train Sunday, came to Dixon for the day.

scrutable, something menacing in his expression. "He is known to me," he agreed at last. "His name is O'Donnell. He is an American citizen, and I saw him last in the Ritz-Savoy Hotel in New York. I believe he was working as a bond salesman, I know nothing of his family or connections, but he was a nice fellow, and I asked him, if he was ever on this side, to look me up. Only this morning I heard that he had called at my villa while I was out, but what he's doing over here I can't tell you."

I noted, with some surprise, that he had omitted to mention O'Donnell's real profession or the note that he had left, giving a rendezvous at Palm Beach. But, as I pondered his possible reason for the omission, another thing was forced on my notice. The chief of police was regarding him with a very curious expression.

"So?" he said slowly. "This man was a friend of yours? He called on you this morning? And the girl, too—she also spoke with you today? Now, that is strange. That is—" he hesitated for a word — "very interesting."

"I agree with you," said Hugo dryly. "Though interestin's hardly the word I would have chosen. Now, see here, Thiers. This has been a fairly full evening for my friend and myself. If you've no further use for us at the moment, we'd be glad to go home to bed. Mr. Lumsden is staying with me, and you can get us any time you want in the morning."

The fat man hesitated, looking from one to the other of us with a considering expression in his small, observant eyes. "No," he agreed at last. "It is true, there is no object in detaining you now, Monsieur Stern. I have much to do here."

"Monsieur Geiss will be informed of the murder?" asked Hugo.

"Certainly," said the other, surprised. "He was acquainted with the poor girl. I depend on him for information—and for the rest, he knows how to keep his mouth shut, that one."

"Then," said Hugo casually, as we turned away, "there will be no harm in my mentioning it to him if we chance to meet..."

United States Imports of Competitive Farm Products, 1937 Against 1932

Extension of Remarks of HON. BERTRAND H. SNELL, of New York

In the House of Representatives, Thursday, March 24, 1938

Mr. SNELL: Mr. Speaker, my attention has just been called to a comparison of imports of farm products for the year of 1937, as compared with the year of 1932, before the Roosevelt administration adopted the national policy of domestic-production control.

These are official government figures:

Item	Unit	Imports 1932	Imports 1937
Corn	Bushels	347,627	86,337,248
Wheat	Bushels	10,026,000	17,434,837
Barley, malt	Pounds	52,532,636	371,243,456
Rye	Bushels	87	206,860
Hay	Tons	13,858	146,149
Soybeans	Pounds	36,568,700	109,418,304
Cottonseed Oil	Pounds	1,058,945	194,008,241
Butter	Pounds	1,052,598	11,110,762
Cattle	Head	97,040	494,943
Hogs	Pounds	34,155	16,555,218
Fresh Pork	Pounds	1,657,500	20,876,569
Hams, Bacon, etc.	Pounds	3,015,489	47,422,022
Fresh Beef	Pounds	796,594	4,665,558
Canned Beef	Pounds	24,793,497	88,087,133
Total Meat Products	Pounds	46,749,702	191,906,012

Just stop and consider for a minute how many acres of land it would have taken to have produced these imported farm products, and how much more the income of the American farmer would have been if we had raised these additional amounts at home, instead of importing them from the foreign farmer. This New Deal administration has sold the American farmer down the river.

Japs Bite Dust Before Shellburst Fury

Japanese warriors hit the dirt all together, as shown in the dramatic photo above, when a Chinese shell burst in line of their advance in the Wu Chu district, the smoke of the blast pluming up to resemble a great tree. Although the village was destroyed as Japan's Nambu Engineers approached, the Chinese, supported by heavy artillery, continued to hold their defense lines.

TO OPEN MARKET

An announcement of importance was made early this week when Fred Warning, popular manager of the Kroger meat market, stated that he would open a meat market in the Royal Blue store sometime next week.

Mr. Warning has been in the meat-cutting business for the past sixteen years, and has made many friends in this city since coming here two years ago from Mt. Morris. He managed a market in Mt. Morris for seven years. He has also managed large markets in Quincy and Rock Island. The very latest Hussman market equipment will be installed in the Royal Blue store, making it one of the most modern and complete food marts in this city or community.

ESCAPED DROWNING

Two out-of-town swimmers, who visited Spring lake Friday afternoon, and went out in water over their depth, are none the wiser for their nearly-tragic experience, due to the well-trained and capable life guards employed by the city at Rochelle's popular pool.

The two men, whose names were not learned by the officials, were swimming in about six feet of water. Neither was very good swimming and when one man became excited probably due to swallowing a little water, he grabbed his companion, getting a strangle-hold on the second man, both of whom then started to sink.

George Linnemeier and Ned Tilton, life guards on duty, noticed the plight of the men and went to their rescue. So quietly was the act accomplished that there was no need of artificial respiration methods. This accident makes the seventh time this year that swimmers have been rescued by our local guards.

OPENED MARKET

Richard Cavell and Arthur Conner have opened a meat market succeeding Leo Cole, on Cherry avenue. Both partners have had many years of experience in their line.

Mississippi Visitor is Party Incentive

Casual entertaining for out of town visitors is one of the most popular motives for party-giving as August gets underway. Several parties this week have been planned for the pleasure of Miss Emma Bower of McComb, Miss., who arrived in Dixon last Saturday for a visit with Miss Leone Kreim, her former classmate at Stephens Women's college, Columbia, Mo.

Last evening, the Misses Betty Haines and Emily Swan were combining their party efforts at the Swan home on Morgan street. Contract occupied the group, with Miss Betty Nichols and Mrs. W. G. Barthelme receiving prizes at the close of play. There was also a special remembrance for Miss Bower.

Those holding tallies were Mrs. W. G. Barthelme, Mrs. Raymond Toot, and the Misses Jeanne Bovey, Leone Kreim, Betty Merriman, Anna Jean Crabtree, Betty Nichols, Cathryn Buchner, Mae Louise Eichler, the honoree, and the hostesses.

Yesterday morning, Miss Buchner made breakfast reservations at the Dixon Country club, complimenting Miss Bower, and Mrs. Richard Wilhelm of Tempe, Ariz. Bridge followed the 9 o'clock meal, and appropriately enough, the guests of honor were fortunate in the card games.

Miss Buchner's guests numbered the Misses Emily Swan, Mae Louise Eichler, Betty Nichols, Anna Jean Crabtree, Leone Kreim, Mrs. Raymond Toot, and the out of town visitors.

Miss Kreim has arranged a treasure hunt for this evening in further courtesy to her guest.

ORGANIZED COOPERATION OF INVESTORS IMPERATIVE

By Hugh S. Magill (in Investor America)

There is an increasing recognition of the imperative need for the larger service which our Federation could render if it had a million members. Recently the officials of several prominent organizations have publicly endorsed the Federation.

It is becoming more and more apparent that the millions of thrifty, middle-class citizens who constitute a majority of our American voters should exert a greater influence in determining economic policies which so vitally affect them.

For example, it is of the highest importance to investors, to workers, and to the public generally that our American system of free industry shall be maintained and fostered, and that the purchasing power of the dollar shall be preserved through the maintenance of a sound economic system.

But, bewildered as so many of our people are today by radical influences, it is evident that the maintenance of sound economic policies can be assured only by a widespread and insistent demand coming from millions of thrifty citizens who realize the importance of these policies, and who are organized for effective cooperation.

The interests of free industry have been looked after very largely in the past by organizations of business executives and industrial managers. These leaders in business and industry have in the main endeavored to safeguard the interests of their security owners, but the time has come when investors can secure just recognition and the adequate protection of their rights only through their own organized cooperation as voting citizens.

No one questions that the rights of workers should be respected, but wise labor leaders realize that workers are dependent upon invested capital for employment. The American worker wants a real job with steady work such as prosperous free enterprise can provide. How can the mutual interests of free industry, investors and workers be promoted?

We see highly organized minority groups obtain from the government what they demand. "Shall the interests of that great majority of our people who constitute the thrifty, industrious, tax-paying citizens go unheeded from lack of effective cooperation? There is an imperative need today for a strong, militant organization of investors.

HE MADE A PROMISE

People over the country were considerably surprised when W. Lee O'Daniel won the Democratic nomination for governor of Texas despite the fact that he entered the race only forty days before election day, and couldn't even vote for himself because he had neglected to pay his poll tax. Mr. O'Daniel, contrary to some reports, was not unknown to Texans, because he had been a radio commentator, advertising flour, and had a large following of fans.

His campaign philosophy was largely in the abstract. He said Texas could cure its depression by hard work; he recommended the Golden Rule, and for all we know, the Ten Commandments. Production, he says, makes wealth.

Perhaps the people voted for this abstract economic philosophy on the theory that Texans, by working hard and producing more, could lead the country out of the slough of despond. But probably a lot of people voted for Mr. O'Daniel because he promised a pension of $35 a month or more to all Texans past the age of 65. That ought to be good campaign material. There are enough Texans past 65, or near that age, to have strong influence in an election.

We do not know how Mr. O'Daniel proposes to obtain the funds to pay this pension, except that he has gone on record against a sales tax for that purpose. One would do an injustice to the nominee, who is as good as elected, by suggesting that the pension promise was just bait and not made in good faith. It would be a severe blow for the aged to find that the governor, after he takes office, had made a pledge entirely beyond his capacity to fulfill, and that he had not made a proper survey of the state's financial resources beforehand. That would be demagoguery, and no one can call O'Daniel a demagogue, yet. So we shall wait and see how the nominee, when he assumes office, raises the money. He will not be permitted to forget his campaign promise.

J. HAM LEWIS ON THIRD TERM

Senator James Hamilton Lewis, speaking of the possibility of Roosevelt's running for a third term, says such an attempt on the part of Mr. Roosevelt would "destroy the Democratic party," and Mr. Lewis ought to be listened to with respect by his party because he is a good Democrat. Of course, Mr. Lewis is not sure the president will try again. Mr. Roosevelt "is not the man to present himself for a continuous third term," says the senior senator from Illinois.

Senator Lewis believes he understands the president's lieutenants, and insists that the president will not seek reelection because "That would bring on his party a charge that it was attempting to do what George Washington refused to do, and that it was violating a cardinal principle for Franklin Roosevelt, which violation the party had denounced when threatened by Theodore Roosevelt.

We have heard from Mr. Lewis, but we still don't know what Mr. Roosevelt is going to try to do.

Washington — The monopoly probes are secretly considering an exhaustive study of a major business complaint against the New Deal—its vast relief and pump-priming expenditures.

But anti-New Dealers should not be hasty about congratulating themselves, for the plan will bring them no rejoicing.

What the investigators propose is a study of the extent to which the huge government outlays of the past six years have, in effect, subsidized business.

New Dealers long have contended that not only was business itself, through ruthless and chaotic practices chiefly responsible for the expenditures of public billions, but that business was the principal beneficiary. So administration-ites on the anti-trust committee want this matter thoroughly explored. They argue that such a study would reveal:

1. That the government is annually giving heavy subsidies to the auto industry in the form of relief to workers whom the manufacturers turn out on the streets when they shut down their plants.

2. That the government is giving similar subsidies to many other industries, both large and small, when they throw their employees out of jobs.

3. That the government is subsidizing practically all basic industries through the purchase of raw and manufactured materials in its work-relief and recovery programs.

The New Dealers make it clear the are not against such indirect subsidies. But they do insist that in view of the persistent attacks by business on the administration's economic policies, the facts should be brought to light, and it should be shown that business itself is primarily responsible for these policies and the biggest beneficiary of them.

Wrong Way Krock

Douglas ("Wrong Way") Corrigan is probably the last trans-Atlantic flier whom Arthur Krock, able chief of the Washington bureau of the New York Times, will try to befriend. Krock is still smarting from his encounter with the daring young aviator.

The two men returned to the U. S. on the same liner. Several days out from London, Krock received a wireless from his close friend Joe Kennedy, ambassador to Great Britain, asking him to advise Corrigan on the numerous business offers he had received. Corrigan, while Kennedy's guest in London, had mentioned his bewilderment over the proposals.

"I'll have a friend of mine who is sailing on your ship talk to you about them," Joe had said. "He knows his way around and can put you straight."

Upon receiving Kennedy's radio, Krock invited Corrigan to his suite for cocktails and a chat. But they had talked only a few minutes when, to Krock's astonishment, Corrigan jumped up and shouted:

"Now get this straight! Nobody can sell me anything. I'm going to handle my own business. I don't need you or anyone else as my agent."

When Krock got over his amazement he was even angrier than Corrigan and gave him a scathing tongue-lashing. Later, when the flier discovered who Krock was, he sheepishly apologized.

"Dear Alben"

Now that they have "Dear Alben" Barkley safely nominated, some of the very frank members of the president's inner circle are wondering if time won't prove they have a white elephant on their hands.

For Dear Alben has definite presidential ambitions and is going to begin pushing them from this minute on. And, while the president is 100 per cent for Barkley as his senate leader, he has no illusions regarding the senator's liberalism. It does not penetrate to rock-bottom depths, might not flourish under stress and strain when untied from his New Deal boss.

Also, New Deal strategists were disappointed in Dear Alben recently when he was asked to do a little pinch-hitting for the administration in another state. Barkley threw up his hands and said no.

So New Dealers have chalked up Dear Alben as one who will take all the presidential help he can get but is lukewarm about giving any in return.

Note—There is no question that Roosevelt help was solely responsible for the Barkley victory. Four months ago, the senator was as good as licked. It was not merely the president's Kentucky trip but various other wires the administration pulled in the state that re-nominated Alben. It was a clean-cut test of the president's strength, perhaps one of the cleanest that has taken place so far.

Sluggish Smith

Senator "Cotton Ed" Smith of South Carolina is basing his claim for re-election on the fact that he walked out of the 936 Democratic convention in Philadelphia because a Negro minister delivered prayer one morning. He is also violently blasting the anti-lynching bill.

In making this attack he has not hesitated to boot senatorial courtesy out the window.

"This so-called anti-lynching bill," he bellowed at a rally at Edgefield, S. C., "was sponsored by Senator Wagner, who was born abroad and I wish had stayed there, and Senator Van Nuys, whose name should be changed to Van Nasty."

Note—In most southern states, when a candidate starts talking the race issue it is considered a sure sign that his campaign is in trouble.

Unhappy Victim

The sensational disclosures of the LaFollette civil liberties committee on the use of violence and labor spies by "Little Steel" to prevent unionization of their plants have had a very dismaying effect on W. B. Gillies, florid vice president of the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co.

After a day of testimony, in which Gillies' claim that his firm had not used labor spies was proven false, he remarked bitterly to C. M. White, hard-boiled official of Republic Steel:

"I blame you fellows for all this. Charley. It may cost me my job. . . . Think of the years spent building up my company's reputation and now look at it. This is terrible, terrible."

Note—Senator LaFollette also revealed that Gillies' company was considering drafts of union contracts when Little Steel members held a secret meeting in New York and decided to oppose organization of their workers.

Merry-Go-Round

Backers of Professor Felix Frankfurter for appointment to the Supreme Court vacancy are making much of the fact that in two Gallup polls during last year's court battle, the famed Harvard liberal was the No. 1 choice of the country's lawyers for elevation to the Supreme Court. Frankfurter led John W. Davis, Senator Wagner and the late Newton D. Baker, under whom Frankfurter served as assistant secretary of war during the Wilson regime. . . . A sight now attracting much tourist attention in the Capitol is the work of a crew of charwomen scouring by hand the hundreds of cut-glass crystals of the giant antique chandeliers in the house and senate lobbies. The crystals are taken down by a man, who replaces them after they have been carefully washed and dried by the women. . . . Privately, some of the president's closest advisers are none too enthusiastic about Will Mahoney, Oregon Democratic senatorial nominee. Henry Hess, the party's gubernatorial standard bearer, is rated in the inner White House circle as a sincere liberal, but Mahoney is considered a political opportunist.

2. This column stands for tolerance of all races, faiths and creeds. Pope Plus deserves the praise of the whole world. Teachers of every faith should refute such a destruction doctrine. Such an aim for education would destroy all true education which should be to teach human brotherhood. It is only as this doctrine of brotherhood lays hold of the lives of men that we

No. The person who empties his purse or gives more than his strength for others is not generous in a true sense because he is failing to apportion his resources—physical, financial and spiritual, so he can in the end give even more generously. NEW LIGHTNING IS INSTALLED AT OGLESBY

To make its main traffic thoroughfares safer at night for motorists and pedestrians, the City of Oglesby, Illinois has installed a mile of sodium safety lighting. The installation extends along U. S. Route 51 from the city limits on the south, through business and residential sections and beyond the northern limits to illuminate an overhead crossing just outside of the city.

Working with the Illinois State Division of Highways, the city council selected this section of the highway for lighting because of the several collisions and one fatality that have occurred on it.

The cost of the installation, the power bill, and all maintenance will be paid for by the city. This thoroughfare is unique in that almost every hazard encountered on the open highway is found on its mile-long stretch. There are cross streets, a railroad grade crossing, a hill, a curve, and an overhead crossing, all of which are now adequately illuminated to make night driving safety more comparable with that during daylight.

Twenty General Electric sodium vapor luminaires are used on this installation. Sodium vapor lighting is obtained from a new light source which produces light by the passage of an electric current through a glass cylinder containing sodium. The luminaire starts to glow as a red neon arc, and within twenty minutes the sodium is vaporized, creating a golden orange light, which provides splendid illumination even during bad weather conditions, such as fog, rain, and snow. The color is restful to the eyes, and because the light is emitted from a large area, and is of comparatively low intensity, it eliminates the annoyance of glare.

The golden orange color of the light is particularly well suited to the installation in Oglesby, because of the large number of streets that cross the highway. The color acts as a cautionary warning to motorists approaching the main thoroughfare from the cross streets.

The cost of operating this type is very reasonable since it produces 2 1/2 times more light than the present incandescent lamp for the same amount of electricity.

This type of lighting is being used on arterial streets and highways throughout the country to reduce the number of night accidents and fatalities. A recent report from Michigan City, India, indicates that no fatalities or accidents have occurred in the one-year period following the lighting of a particularly hazardous stretch of highway which was the scene of five fatalities and sixteen personal injury accidents during the three year period preceding the installation.

Another report from Syracuse, New York, indicates that they have been able to decrease night accidents 55 per cent in the first year following the lighting of some of their main traffic thoroughfares.

BUTTER FINGERS DOWN SOFTBALL TEAMS LAST EVE

Home Lumber and Dixon Fruit Company Are the Winners

At an old fashioned taffy-pull buttered fingers may be all right, but it's a cinch they are "no go" at a baseball game. The Knacks softball team probably knows this today without being reminded of it, for with eight errors chalked against the club the members took a trimming last night at the Airport from Home Lumber by a count of 7 to 2 in the nightcap affair.

It was a sloppy victory for the Home Lumber, and the heavy dew may have been some reason for the slippery apple—and it works both ways. Due to the errors and six hits and three walks off Max Fordham the lumbermen had no trouble getting on the bases, and the Knacks did well to hold them to an under-ten count. In the fifth inning the Phillies left three men on the bases and held the inning to no runs as Maxie struck the third man out.

The Home Lumber collected the first run in the initial chapter when Emmert sacrificed bringing in Moser. Then in the last half of the same episode the Knacks tagged the keystone, too, when Bradford scored on an error by the pitcher and the game was in a knot, but not for long. The lumbermen whizzed around in the first of the third for four runs, two on errors, one on a sacrifice and another on a drive over second base by R. McNamara. Two more runs were scored in the first of the sixth for the timber boys, one after a peg to first to catch G. McNamara and another on the catcher's error.

The Knacks held hope for a last-inning rally in the seventh when Long took first on an error by the second baseman, Worrell went down to right field and Long advanced to second on the right-fielder's error and to scoring position on a drive over left field by Parker. Shuck was walked, loading the bags. Max Fordham took another free trip and Long sauntered in to home. There was only one away with the sacks still loaded, but Wright's pop out to shortfield and Johnson's whiffs ended the threat.

Emmert, elbowing for Home Lumber struck out four, walked 8 and allowed six hits. Fordham, on the mound for the Knacks, struck out two, walked three and permitted only two hits. The errors counted heavily.

MEDUSA DOWNED

The opening game between Medusa and Dixon Fruit company was even more one-sided than the nightcap with Dixon Fruit winning 14 to 8. The cement men worked hard both in the box and on the field, but six errors didn't help the sinking ship very much and they went under.

Dixon Fruit company took two runs "right off the bat" in the first inning when Scriven got a triple to centerfield with one away. G. Carlson was walked and robbed second. Slain came up and moved out to the left fielder and Scriven scored after the play. A double by Grove sent Carlson in a running but Grove expired when Randall fanned.

At the end of the second the score was knotted when Medusa added another run to the only child born in the first chapter. O'Hara's double in the first inning had scored Nagle and in the second episode Halligan's double scored B. Williams.

Didn't Fool Much

Dixon Fruit company didn't fool much and took four runs in the third, two on a double by Slain, and then went to the sixth inning without scoring but made up for it all in one bunch. Twelve men came to bat and eight of them scored, four of them on errors, two of them on a triple by Kelchner, one on a single by Scriven and one on a fielder's choice.

Medusa picked up three runs in the fourth, two in the fifth and one in the last act in a vain effort to mount the wave. Halligan, star pitcher for the Medusa outfit, lacked support against last night as he struck out ten, gave off nine hits and walked ten, struck out four, allowed ten hits and walked four.

Even Best Pitchers Get Their "Bumps"

Chicago, Aug. 12.—(AP)—The best of pitchers get their "bumps" and Emil Bidilli of Springfield, one of the best twirlers in the Three-Eye League, is no exception.

Bidilli ran into trouble early last night against Waterloo, but stuck around for eight innings and left the game apparently the winning pitcher, although hit often and hard. But the Hawks tied the score in the ninth and the Browns had to go 13 innings to win for Taylor. Bidilli's successor, 9 to 8.

Clinton hammered five Evansville pitchers to hand the league leaders one of their most severe beatings of the season, 12 to 1. The Owls manufactured their runs on 12 hits.

Bloomington beat Moline, 7 to 5, and Decatur beat Cedar Rapids, 3 to 1, in other games. Today's schedule: Bloomington at Waterloo, Evansville at Cedar Rapids; Decatur at Clinton and Springfield at Moline.

TRIBE ELBOWERS COLLAPSE LIKE WILD OIL STOCK

Yankees Now Sailing with Six and a Half Game Lead over Pack

By SID FEDER

Associated Press Sports Writer
All in all, and taking it by and large, those Cleveland pitchers certainly picked a fine time to fold up.

In fact, the New York Yankees, now sailing along 6½ games in front of the American League pack, will tell you the Tribe elbowers couldn't have chosen a better spot to collapse like so much wild-cat oil stock.

First it was young Bobby Feller who began getting kicked around and lost a "crooshal" one to the Yankees. Next Johnny Allen's sore arm couldn't take it any longer. Then Mel Harder's comeback went back into the mothballs.

And finally, Oscar Vitt, who wasn't used to that sort of thing—especially not after the pleasant experience of piloting Newark's "wonder team" to an international league pennant by 25½ games last season—sent young Al Milnar and old Willis Hudlin to the wars yesterday against the staggering St. Louis Browns, and got no better results.

Buck Newsom, opposing Milnar, tossed a five hitter, and the Browns nipped the Tribe, 8-7. Then Les Tietje, whose last well-pitched game was beyond the memory of the oldest inhabitant, hurled a six-hitter, and Gabby Street's lads clicked for an 8-2 decision.

Twin Setback

Since the Yankees were virtually handed a 9-6 victory by Washington Senators, this twin setback dropped the Tribe a game and a half farther back in the race. And the fellows who were around during the Yanks' last two pennant conquests made ready to fall asleep again, convinced the junior circuit campaigning was all over.

The Yanks collected only five hits off three Senators' pitchers, but bases on balls, enemy errors afield, and Joe DiMaggio's three-run homer were enough.

The Boston Red Sox aren't showing much interest in taking advantage of the Tribe's collapse. While the Browns belted the Indians, the Sox, who might have climbed into second place as a result, dropped a set to the lowly Athletics.

Arm Is "Dead"

Lefty Grove started against Connie Mack's infants yesterday and not only lost a 5-3 decision, but learned that his arm, which he thought had recovered, is once again as "dead" as Aunt Maggie's schoolgirl romance.

What with such developments as these, and Monte Stratton's four-hitter that gave the Chicago White Sox a 13-1 triumph over the Detroit Tigers, there wasn't much action left for the National League yesterday.

Only one game got by old man weather and the schedule makers. The Cincinnati Reds nipped the Chicago Cubs, 8-7, in that one when Ernie Lombardi whacked a homer in the 14th inning. By the setback, the Cubs lost a chance to move into a second place tie with the idle New York Giants.

JAPAN DOUBTS PERMANENCE OF PRESENT PACT

Skeptical Concerning Truce With Soviet Over Boundary

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Writer

New York, Aug. 12.—The Russo-Japanese truce doesn't necessarily mean peace, for serious differences of opinion still remain to be reconciled, but nobody has yet put forward any valid reason why an agreement shouldn't be reached.

In any event, peace-minded folk can glean some satisfaction from the fact that at least temporarily we have what the Japanese news agency, Domei, describes as a "cheerful silence" in the fighting zone.

If the border warfare is resumed, it likely will be because somebody wants a continuation of the conflict for reasons involving a much wider issue than the boundary dispute.

On the whole, the developments in the Far East the past two or three days have given peace a fair fillip. A reminder not to be too optimistic was voiced by Premier Mussolini at Carso, Italy, in addressing troops participating in maneuvers.

"While cannon boom in so many parts of the world today," he said, "it would be folly to have illusions and criminal not to prepare for war. This does not escape us, and we are preparing."

Still, he didn't go so far as to say he expected war; he just advocated preparedness. He must have got considerable satisfaction from the purported stand of his brother in the Aryan blood, Nazi leader Hitler, towards the Russo-Japanese controversy.

The world at large had long been looking for a three-cornered conflict in which Germany and Japan would combine against the Soviet. This belief was greatly strengthened when Japan was brought into the anti-Communist pact which was fathered by Herr Hitler.

Accordingly there was much surprise when word, unofficial but apparently inspired, came from Berlin that Germany wouldn't give anything more than moral support if a general conflict developed between Nippon and Russia.

PEACEFUL SETTLEMENT

Tokyo, Aug. 12.—(AP)—The foreign office released today an abridged text of the third truce conference between Maxim Litvinoff, Russian Commissar of Foreign Affairs, and Mamoru Shigemitsu, Japanese ambassador to Russia, indicating Japan made most of the concessions in ending hostilities on the Siberian-Manchoukouan frontier.

"It is our earnest desire to settle this unfortunate affair peaceably," Shigemitsu told Litvinoff at their meeting in Moscow.

Shigemitsu, the communique disclosed, proposed that the "two forces cease hostilities by withdrawing about one kilometer (5-8 of a mile) from the disputed line so that they will be beyond range of rifle fire and then begin the boundary demarcation."

The text said Litvinoff agreed that Japanese forces "withdraw from the line they now occupy, claiming that it lies within Manchoukou and that the area thus evacuated will not be entered by either side," thus not prejudging Japan's claim.

But, it added, he refused to agree to "withdrawal of Soviet troops from Soviet territory at the demand of a foreign power."

Tokyo newspapers reflected a feeling of doubt that the truce on the Siberian-Manchoukouan frontier would end Japanese-Soviet Russian troubles.

It was announced Japanese lost 600 dead and 600 wounded in the Changkufeng battles. Soviet casualties were declared to be 3,000 killed and wounded.

HENERT REUNION.

On Sunday, Aug. 31, the fourth annual Henert reunion will be held at Dysart, Iowa. Dinner will be served in the new community building at Dysart and with weather permitting the afternoon will be spent in the park. Many of the Henert clan from this vicinity plan to attend.

BAPTISMAL SERVICE.

In the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Vogeler, last Sunday afternoon, Rev. George A. Walter, pastor of the Reynolds Evangelical church, had what in the experience of any pastor is a most remarkable baptismal service.

It was the happy privilege of Rev. Walter to perform the marriage service of all three of Mr. Vogeler's daughters and also that of Robert Seebach, a nephew, who had his home with them. Two years ago on March 22, 1936, he baptised a child for each of these members of the family and again last Sunday another set of four youngsters were baptised in this home. Not in the experience of Rev. Walters' 40 years in the ministry has such an unusual experience been his, to marry four couples from the same home, baptise their first children at one time in the home of their parents and then two years later to again have a similar ceremony in the same home.

The following were the participants in this extraordinary service: Curtis George Floto, son of Floyd and Helen V. Floto, born Nov. 1, 1936; Darlene Helen Bonnell, daughter of Homer M. and Bernice G. Bonnell born Jan. 21, 1938; Allen Chester Bonnell, son of Chester and Wanetta E. Bonnell, born March 4, 1937; and Audrey Mae Seebach born January 25, 1937, to Robert H. and Evelyn M. Seebach.

Those present at the service were Mr. and Mrs. John Ewald, parents of Mrs. Robert Seebach, Mrs. George A. Walter and Edwin C. Danner. A splendid dinner was served to this fine family group at noon after which the baptismal service took place. Mr. and Mrs. Vogeler are to be congratulated on the fine showing of grandchildren which have come to make their lives richer and happier.

Epworth League 6 P. M.

There will be no worship service in our church this coming Sunday. The Sunday school voted several weeks ago to continue their work throughout the summer. Everyone is urged to be present at the regular Sunday school hour. Since there is no church service, this will be a fine opportunity to visit another church. Regular services will be resumed next Sunday under the usual leadership.

Next Sunday is the first Sunday of the Oakdale camp for this year. The pastor, who is a member of the temperance committee of the Illinois conference will give the address in connection with the large Sunday school gathering at 2 P. M. It would be pleasing to see a group of Reynolds folks at the camp next Sunday. The following Sunday no service will be held in the Reynolds church. It is our annual camp meeting Sunday off.

Mrs. George Henert and Mrs. Henry Klenke were appointed to act as the leaders in planning for the annual chicken supper of the Reynolds church, to be held about the middle of September. This is the annual chicken supper of the large crowd.

Sunday school and Bible class at 9:30 A. M. The lesson is "The Relation of Temperance to Character."

Divine worship at 10:30 A. M.

A large congregation of worshippers greeted the pastor upon the return from his vacation last Sunday. It was indeed gratifying to see young and old back in their accustomed place on Sunday morning. Vacation days are now over, and all of us should put forth every effort to keep the fine attendance record which we have established thus far this year from going down. We can accomplish this if we all desire.

Keep up the attendance at Sunday school and church service.

NEW SIGNS OF HARMONY SEEN AT STATE FAIR

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 12.—(AP)—Amid new signs of Democratic harmony, the Horner administration today arranged for Mayor Edward J. Kelly of Chicago, one of its arch rivals, to make a five-minute speech at the state fair Governor's Day program next Thursday.

F. Lynden Smith, director of public works and Horner campaign manager, said Kelly had been given a place on the speaking program.

Previously Patrick A. Nash, the Cook county chairman, was revealed to have written letters to ward leaders in the Kelly-Nash city hall organization asking them to send large delegations to the state fair.

Governor's Day traditionally has been devoted to an outpouring of strength by the Horner faction. It has been boycotted by Kelly and Nash since the Democratic factions split before the 1936 primary.

Asked about the developments, Smith said he "presumed" it was an indication of a desire by the Chicagoans to cooperate for the election in November of the Democratic state ticket.

Plans have been made for several speakers at the Democratic rally. Individual orations will be cut short, if possible, and the governor is planning to speak only for ten minutes, his aides said. Others on the program include Scott W. Lucas, senatorial nominee; Senator James Hamilton Lewis and Speaker Louie E. Lewis, candidate for treasurer.

Smith said State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney, a Horner ally in Chicago had been invited to talk, also. General invitations went to all leading Democrats.

Smith said, including Michael L. Igoe, the defeated senatorial choice of the Kelly-Nash faction.

Roper Sees War Jitters Passing

Washington, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Secretary Roper disclosed today a conviction of high-placed English friends that Europe will pass through the crisis of war threats in the next 30 days.

Roper, who returned this week from a month's visit in Great Britain, said in an interview:

"The people with whom I talked said if they could get through the next month without war, there would be no general European war for at least a year and probably for years to come."

He explained when he was in England two years ago, Britons appeared "jittery" about the prospects for peace because of their lack of military preparedness.

"Now," he continued, "the English believe their rearmament program is far enough along to command respect and peace."

Eighty-five thousand rainbow trout fingerlings are to be distributed in the Colorado river below Boulder dam. Boulder Lake is to be stocked with warm water species of fish, particularly bass.

The British army has borrowed a "super" cook from the London County Council for a year in a campaign to brighten up meals for the troops.

Although Jefferson's Declaration of Independence was adopted on July 4, 1776, the colonies had adopted the resolution of independence July 2.

Doesn't Want Old Age Aid for Mother

Edwardsville, Ill., Aug. 12—(AP)—Welfare Superintendent William F. Niehaus reported a new type of complaint today.

A young man, whom he would not name, said his mother had applied for old-age assistance last year without consulting him. He related that although he only made a small salary, he was able and willing to support her.

He handed Niehaus 17 monthly checks for $15 each, a total of $255, which he had persuaded his mother not to cash.

State's Hay Crop Largest in Years

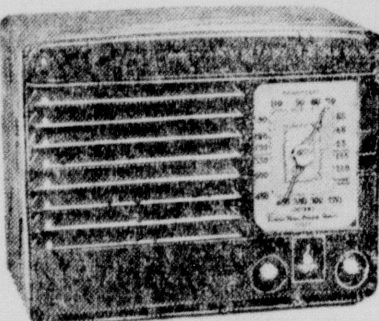

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 12—(AP)—The Illinois hay crop promises to be the largest in ten years, the state and federal agricultural departments said today in their August 1 report.

Corn and soybean prospects are "far above average," it added, while small grain yields have been "average or above."

"The two outstanding developments of the past month," the report continued, "have been the phenomenal improvement in corn prospects, due to far better than average growing conditions during July, and the very disappointing turnout of the oat crop which lodged and rusted in northern and central Illinois, resulting in much lower yields than anticipated and in very low test weights."

On August 1, the prospect was that corn would average 40.5 bushels to the acre, producing 340,646,000 bushels in Illinois, compared with the 1937 record yield of 47 bushels and production of 444,197,000 bushels.

WEEKLY SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

RUTH: ADVENTUROUS FAITH

Text: Ruth 1:6-18

By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

Editor of Advance

The story of Ruth is a story of human devotion unexcelled in the annals of literature, sacred or profane.

The story begins with famine, an unusual circumstance in the goodly land of Canaan, but occasioning a serious depression in which Elimelech, a farmer of Bethlehem, decides to go over into the country of Moab across the Jordan in search of better times.

With him went his wife, Naomi, and his two sons, Mahlon and Chilion.

The family had not settled long in Moab when Elimelech died, and the two sons marrying Moabite women, the family seemed rooted in the new home. But 10 years later the two sons died, and now Naomi and her two daughters-in-law—Orpah and Ruth—were facing serious times.

Naomi, with her husband and her two sons gone, naturally thought of her old home near Bethlehem, and decided that she would go back. Her daughters-in-law went with her to the border of the country, though she urged them not to go with her but to return to their homes and find new husbands. Orpah, however, lacking the intensity of Ruth, kissed her mother-in-law and returned to her home.

Such devotion might have been natural on the part of a daughter toward her mother, or on the part of one of the same environment and race toward a beloved friend, but Ruth's devotion—as that of a daughter-in-law leaving her own home land—is remarkable. It is no wonder that such a firm spirit of devotion has found recognition in the sacred writings of the Jews.

Possibly in the glorification of Ruth there has been a tendency to forget the worth of Naomi. What a marvelous mother-in-law she must have been to evoke such devotion on the part of two women who had married her sons in a strange land! We must realize also that in Ruth's fidelity there must have been something more than merely personal loyalty. She must have sensed in Naomi a quality of faith that led her to embrace the same religion and to share the same ideals.

We need not go into the latter part of the story of how Ruth gleaned in the fields of Bethlehem after the reapers, and found favor in the eyes of a kinsman of her husband, who instructed the reapers to leave a little more than just the blades of wheat that were missed in harvesting. Suffice it to say that the story has a happy ending, and Ruth found some of the rewards of her faith and her fidelity.

It is a story of love and devotion between women, similar to that between men in the Bible story of David and Jonathan, and the story of Damon and Pythias.

Pipe Springs national monument in northern Arizona preserves an old stone fort established in 1869 by order of Brigham Young to protect a Mormon cattle ranch from marauding Indians.

Railroads Use 15,000,000 Tons Of Ice A Year BECAUSE IT SUPPLIES

WASHED AIR

Approximately 15 million tons of ice—enough to make 240 billion average-size cubes—are required annually by the American railroads to keep freight and passengers cool.

Ice is used by the railroads for various purposes. It enables them to transport perishables for long distances. It keeps in condition the enormous quantities of food served in their diners. It cools the drinking water in cars, in stations and in other parts of the plant. It chills the refrigerant in several thousand air-conditioned passenger cars. In short, ice is no small item on the railroads' long shopping list.

The great bulk of ice purchased or manufactured by the railroads and refrigerator car companies goes in what has become known as "America's rolling refrigerators." Nearly 13 million tons are needed each year by the railroads' perishable freight service. Consequently, the ice industry has a huge stake in rail transportation.
